Best XI Walkthrough
(all information is subject to change)

This guide contains the steps on voting for Best XI. This should be done by the team coach Immediately after each game. The coaches' input will allow conference Best XI selections to be announced at the conclusion of the season and shine a spotlight on the conference's standout players. Access to the team as coach is required. This information cannot be entered by a club admin. If you are a club admin and want to vote for Best XI, please add yourself as coach to the team using the walkthrough on the Conference website and come back to this walkthrough. If you have any questions after going through this process, please email Scott Belton (Sbelton@usyouthsoccer.org).

Important Things to Note about the Best XI Process:

Best XI selections should be completed IMMEDIATELY following each game while the information is fresh on the mind. The ability to enter the game score and Best XI selections will freeze 72 hours after kick off.

It is important to make note of opposing players that stand out during the game to make it easier when making the selections at the end of the game. Taking a picture of the completed game card at the end of the game is required, and that picture can be a good reference on the players and jersey numbers when entering the selections in GotSport after the game.

Best XI voting is only eligible to teams that play in the Premier I division of the conference. Best XI does not apply to the Gulf Coast Division.

Nominations will not be considered for players from a team whose coach does not submit nominations for opposing players throughout the season
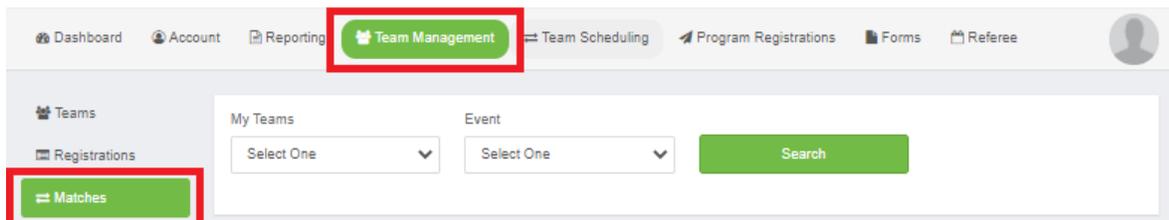

Coaches and managers must have a personal account in GotSport attached to the team profile

The nominations must be signed off by the head coach. If a coach has an assistant coach or team manager select nominations after a game, it will be the league's understanding that these nominations are approved by the head coach.

The league will announce the Conference Best XI for all age groups together (13U-19U) at the completion of all 2021-22 Conference games which is typically end of May/beginning of June.

The league has a Best XI process due to the request from the clubs/teams. We are happy to have this process in place to be able to shine a spotlight on some of the Conference's standout players, but the posting of the Best XI will depend on the participation from teams throughout the season. If the league determines that participation in the selection/nomination process is too low, then there will not be a Conference Best XI posted at the end of the season.
