A LETTER FROM LEADERSHIP /

“An identity shaped by the players who take the field”

The US Youth Soccer National League has seen great evolution and growth across its history, especially in recent years.

The identity of the National League — which is an identity shaped by the players who take the field within our various competitions — is one that is becoming increasingly clearer across the youth soccer landscape, and the marks and logos of the National League brand serve as the visual introduction to what it means to be part of the National League.

The various shields and crests are more than logos. They represent the commitment and attitude of every National League player, team and club.

Taking advantage of opportunities. Rising to challenges. Earning your place.

Seeing a National League logo associated with a team means its players have checked those boxes. It means the club and coaches have provided a safe and fun environment for the players to obtain those accomplishments and pursue future goals. It means the game of soccer is taking another step forward in this country.

We are excited to continue to offer the right level of competition for every player, and we look forward to seeing you on the field soon!

Sincerely,

Simon Collins
Commissioner
USYS National League
